The Daily Oregonian

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 30, 1884.

A SIGNIFICANT TEST.

An effort was made a few days ago in the house of representatives to pass a bill to abolish the four years' limit to the tenure of certain offices. There was a unanimous report from the committee in favor of the bill, but it failed by a vote of 141 to 99. The New York Evening Post says: "The debate seems to have caused the wildest excitement among the democrats, whose one strong political feeling seems to be hostility to any interference with the spoils system. On every other prominent question of the day they are lukewarm or indifferent. The only use of the four years' tenure is to furnish the administration with a chance to give the office to a new man without having to give any reason for dismissing the old one. It also enables the office jobbers to know for certain when there will be a vacancy, so that they can come to Washington and exert the pressure at the right time. It was condemned when enacted in 1820 by nearly every prominent man of the day of both parties, and has produced every one of the evils then predicted as likely to result from it."

In his letter to the Iroquois club Senator Pendleton declared that the democratic party was pledged to extirpation of the spoils system. That term, he said, "is a brutal name for a more brutal thing, and yet is entirely fitting. It suggests war and carnage in those barbarian days when conquered peoples were made slaves and their goods confiscated, when prisoners were chained to the chariot wheels of the conqueror, and wives and children and household gods decorated the triumph of the victors. It is instinct with the ferocious spirit of the exultant war cry of barbarians: 'To the victors belong the spoils!' It is a crime against civilization." To the reform movement that proposes the eradication of that crime of barbarism "the democratic party is pledged," said Mr. Pendleton. "It will gain no victories by failing to pass specific laws, or to enforce them when passed. It will gain no recruits by loud professions, which afterward may be violated or forgotten, if it fail, whenever and wherever it may have power, in the house of representatives, in the senate, to testify by its acts to the faith it professes. To the extent of its power it must show its sincerity."

How it shows its sincerity the refusal to abolish a regulation that stands as one of the chief bulwarks of the spoils system well evinces. The opposition to the measure, says the Chicago Times, an independent paper with democratic leanings, "was wholly on the Bourbon side of the chamber. The advocacy of it was almost wholly on the other side. The measure was rejected, receiving only ninety-nine votes, mostly from the republican benches, while 146 votes were recorded against it, nearly all from the Bourbon benches. The result was received with laughter, says the report. The incentive to laughter must have been the surprising way that the so called democratic party, having control of the house, testified by its action to the verity of Mr. Pendleton's Chicago declaration that that concern is a society of citizens pledged to put an end to the spoils system."

Mr. Springer, speaking for the democrats, stated the real objection of his party to a measure that would strike a damaging blow at the spoils system. "In view of the probable change of the government at the next election, he hoped this democratic house would not pass this bill and thus pension upon the country a lot of political dead beats"—meaning a civil list composed of persons who could not be recognized as "dead-beats" of his own party. The motive behind every utterance of those who defeated the measure was affection for that crime against civilization called the spoils system. "It was a crucial test," as the independent Chicago Times declares, "of Mr. Pendleton's assertion that his party is pledged to terminate this 'barbarism.'"

But it is no news to say that Mr. Pendleton cannot speak for his party on this subject. For it drove him out of the senate solely because of his efforts to erect a barrier against the spoils system. The tenacity with which the democratic party clings to this "barbarism" as the main purpose of its existence, finds its parallel only in the devotion with which it adhered to another and even greater "crime against civilization"—human slavery.

HINTS ON HEALTH.

At this season of the year, when the "spring complaints" abound, it would be a good plan to follow Charles Lamb's advice that all persons should keep themselves ignorant of their entire inner construction—"to acknowledge no mechanism not visible, to use exercise, to keep a good conscience, and avoid tampering with hard terms of art, viscosity, scirrhosity, and those bugbears by which simple patients are scared into their graves." And it would do no harm to follow Emerson, who goes a step further, and not only forbids illness, but forbids the ill to talk of their ailments: "There is one topic peremptorily forbidden to all well-bred, all rational mortals, namely, their distempers. If you have not slept, or if you have slept, or if you have headache, or sciatica, or leprosy, or thunderstroke, I beseech you, by all angels, to hold your peace, and not pollute the morning, to which all the housemates bring serene and pleasant thoughts, by corruption and groans. Come out of the azure. Love the day. Do not leave the sky out of your landscape." The ladies also have a good counsellor of their own sex who says that "a woman in comfortable circumstances ought to be as much ashamed of being dyspeptic as of being drunk. Let the idea once get firm hold that illness is stupid and vulgar, and a generation or two—nay, even a year or two—would show a marked change. If a woman is ill, let her take it for granted that it is her business to get well, and forthwith set about it. A good, stout will, a resolute purpose, will work wonders."

As an explanation to those who still seem at a loss to understand why THE OREGONIAN does not now advocate the nomination of Blaine as it did in 1876 and 1880, it has to say that the chief reason is its fear that he cannot now carry certain of the doubtful states, and in particular the great pivotal state of New York. What has happened since 1880 has, as many of our most sagacious observers view it, weakened Blaine, especially in that great state. It will require a union of every element of the republican party, and the support of the independents besides, to carry New York for the republican candidate. There is great reason to fear that this union cannot be made upon Blaine, though it certainly could be made upon some other candidate. It is very probable that Blaine would get more votes in the Pacific states than any other man who could be named; but it will almost certainly avail nothing to carry the Pacific states if New York is not carried too; and if New York is carried the Pacific states will not be needed, though Oregon certainly, and perhaps California and Nevada, may be carried for any republican candidate.

A story was published about the time of Grant's second nomination, which will bear repeating now. The general was making a call upon an old friend, a widowed lady and her daughter. The lady anxious that the young girl should show off to advantage before the distinguished caller, requested that she should sing for the general, asking him if he had any preference among the songs on the piano. "Well," said the general, "sing that beautiful song of Crouch, 'Kathleen Mavourneen', which says, 'it may be four years, and it may be forever.'"

Delegates to the state republican convention report an unusual degree of harmony among republicans in all parts of the state. There is every probability of a heavy republican majority on the general vote and a republican majority in the legislature at least as large as that of 1882.

WHAT IS MONEY?

It was at some risk to his reputation as a scientific economist that General Francis A. Walker first took the position that fiat money is money in the proper economic sense. "Paper money is money," he said, but "it is bad money." He makes the sole test of money the performance of the money function. "That which does the money work is the money thing. If it does this work well, it is good money, if it does the work ill, it is bad money." But to avoid being misunderstood he says:

"It is my firm belief that the issue of inconvertible paper money is never a sound measure of finance, no matter what the stress of the national exigency may be. I believe it to be a wholly mistaken policy as the resort of an athlete to the brandy bottle. It means mischief, always. If there is ever a time when a nation needs its full collected vigor, with a steady pulse, a calm outlook, a hand and a brain undisturbed by the fumes of this alcohol of commerce—paper money—it is when called on to do battle for its life with superior force. It is to my mind the highest proof ever afforded of the supreme intellectual greatness of Napoleon, that during twenty years of continuous war, often single handed against half the powers of Europe, he never was once driven to this desperate and delusive resort. I hold any man to be something less than a statesman, in the strict sense of that word, who, under any stress of fiscal exigency, supports or submits to a measure for the issue of paper money not convertible at the instant, on demand, without conditions, into coined money of its full denominative value. The political arguments by which such measures are always supported, on the outbreak of war, seem to me the veriest trash, due half to ignorance and half to cowardice."

The Saturday Review lately pronounced General Walker "the first of American economists." Since he took his stand as a scientific economist on this point there have been some very important conversions to his view. Professor Henry Sedgwick of Cambridge university, England, adopts his definition of money with the substitution of one unimportant phrase, and the Encyclopedia Britannica, in the new edition, adopts it without the change of a word, and at the same time declares that General Walker's work on money is the most comprehensive in the English language. Speaking of the writers on money, Professor Sedgwick says:

"They recognize the existence of a narrower definition which restricts the term 'money' to coined metal, on the view that bank notes are mere promises to pay money, which ought not to be confounded with money, however currently they may be taken for it. But they are generally disposed to reject this view as a heresy, and, although the narrower sense is that adopted by several economists of repute, I imagine that it would be regarded as at least old-fashioned by practical men, except so far as the word is quite technically employed in relation to the details of banking business. Again, though in the 'resumption' controversy in the United States it was maintained that inconvertible notes ought not to be regarded as money, I do not think a definition excluding such notes—but including convertible notes—has ever found favor in England, although English authorities are, of course, agreed that inconvertible paper is a bad kind of money."

Professor Sedgwick has long been recognized as the best critical writer on political economy in England. He is qualified to speak with authority as to the generally received opinion of economists and financiers. There is a narrow and technical sense in which the term money may be confined to coined money, as in stating the accounts of a bank, yet this Professor Sedgwick says is not the sense in which the word is used by the writers on money generally. A definition which would include bank notes and exclude inconvertible paper has never found favor in England. Lord Mansfield, the great English jurist, made it clear that bank notes are to be considered money. He said they "are not like bills of exchange—mere securities or documents for debts—nor are so esteemed, but are treated as money in the ordinary course and transaction of business by the general consent of mankind." And M. Wolowski, the eminent Polish-French economist, writes, "If bank notes are not money in the scientific strictness of the term, they at least have all its attributes." But General Walker is not a supporter of the greenback system. On the contrary he is one of its strongest and most positive opponents. He deprecates the use of an inconvertible paper money and deems it "mischievous, pernicious, destructive of social well-being." But it would be as unreasonable he says to deny that it is money for such a reason as to deny that whisky is drink because we deprecate its use as drink.

PARDONS.

A good deal of surprise has been expressed in this city at the pardon of Mercer, and the fact that a large number of citizens requested his pardon is no less surprising. There is seldom a criminal so abandoned as not to have friends or relatives who will desire that his punishment should be as light and undegrading as possible, and when such persons seek the executive clemency no one has the heart to rebuke them for it. But when citizens who have no personal relations to a convict to prompt such action, it is, in almost all cases, improper for them to ask the governor of the state to interfere with the regular course of justice. And the true rule for executives to adopt is, that they will not interpose the pardoning power except in cases where some error was committed in the trial and sentence of criminals which there is no other way to correct, or in cases where new evidence has come to light which, if known at the trial, would have changed the verdict in the convict's favor. In other words, it should be understood by the governor and the citizens of the state that the regular proceedings of courts of justice are not the proper subject of their review and revision. When the state goes to the expense of procuring the conviction of criminals through regular forms of procedure, so guarded as to prevent mistakes, it ought to be saved the mockery of having the judicial decrees set aside by a governor at the request of influential men. There are exceptional cases, of course, which demand the executive clemency. But in all ordinary cases the governor should positively refuse to reverse the judgments of the courts, unless it is shown that some act was omitted or done in the trial, which, if not omitted or done, would have led to a different verdict. We speak of the solemnity of courts, and the terrors of the law as if they were real things to impress the imagination and restrain the will. Nothing should be done to mitigate these terrors or render less solemn the decrees of courts. While the governor has a constitutional right to pardon as a sovereign, he has no moral right to render the transgressor's way less hard than it is made by the laws, properly administered, which he has sworn to uphold. And the men who sign the petitions for pardons should remember that the state, by its regular methods of administering justice, has relieved them from the responsibility of saying how long a convict should suffer imprisonment for his crimes, and, when importuned to sign these petitions, they should decline to interfere in what is not their business.

The passage of a law to govern the counting of the electoral votes and the declaration of the presidential election is one of the most important duties which devolves upon congress at this session. Unfortunately there is not much hope that this duty will be performed. The senate passed a wisely considered bill some weeks ago, but the house has not taken it up, and now its committee on the same subject has reported a new bill which the senate would be sure not to accept, even if it should pass the lower branch. The result will be that nothing will be done, and the matter will be left in the confusion which has long enveloped it. This scandalous neglect to perform so clear a duty shows the measure of statesmanship that now prevails in congress.

The recent local elections in Indiana have shown the same drift of sentiment in favor of the republicans that has appeared in every state which has held elections this year. The party made decided gains, and it is in decidedly better shape for the presidential contest of 1884 than it was four years ago this spring for the national contest of 1880. At the same time the party is not strong enough to engage in a defensive campaign.

The Western Union Telegraph Company is very greatly concerned about the prospect of a postal telegraph bill. The company does not fear that any contract will be made with the Postal Telegraph Company, but the fear is that the Edmunds bill will pass, which will break the Western Union badly in the market and compel that company to offer its line to the government as Edmunds hopes at a fair price without the fictitious value. The bill will not pass both houses at this session, but there is a great probability that it may before the end of this congress.

Some things are ludicrous. Among them is the row among republicans at Louisville, Ky., growing out of a dispute as to who shall lead the party in a state which is always carried by the democrats by something like 75,000 majority.

The impression gathered by our reporter from conversation with delegates to the state convention who were in the city last evening was that the delegates to the national convention would not be instructed for any candidate for the presidency.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Eastern Oregon.

The farmers of Summerville are all busily engaged sowing grain, and expect a prolific year.

At the annual meeting of the Eagle Mining and Prospecting Company the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, D. B. Rees; vice president, [illegible]; secretary, [illegible]; trustees, [illegible]. The Eagle Mining and Prospecting Company have 25 acres in Union county with a frontage of about 25 acres which they expect to thoroughly prospect the coming summer.

Washington Territory.

Dr. D. S. Baker, of Walla Walla, is seriously ill. The doctor is suffering from severe neuralgic pains in the breast.

The city council of Olympia, by a recent ordinance, has declared that from and after July 1, 1884, it shall cost $50 a year to secure a license to sell beer at retail; $300 a year to secure a license to sell liquor at wholesale, and $400 a year for a license to sell liquors at retail. The license to be given are $250 for the full liquor license, and $100 for each of the others.

Hon. N. Ferl, a well known citizen of Walla Walla county, met with a serious accident while out to [illegible] near his farm, [illegible]. The vehicle was demolished, and the occupants thrown to the ground with such violence as to render them insensible. They remained in a comatose state until found by Miss Lewis, who happened to be riding by.

A Seattle exchange says: Judging by past and present appearances, the fruit crop of 1884 will be the heaviest in the history of this region of country. Last season was not a favorable one. The trees had a rest. They grew and gathered strength instead of bearing fruit and prepared themselves for a greater exertion this year. They are larger, and there are also a great many more trees. So far the season has been right propitious. The trees have budded, and blossomed as never before. There have been perfect cherry, plum, pear and apple bouquets. Except in the case of apples, the flowers are now gone, and the young fruit is rapidly forming. The passage of another week will carry them beyond danger, save in the event of weather phenomenally cold. The season is neither early nor late, nor has it been too warm, too cold, too dry or too wet. It has been just about right. If the conditions continue favorable as there is now reason to believe they will, the yield of fruit this year will be far beyond anything in the past. In fact, it promises to be beyond the capacity of the trees to bear, and it will not be surprising to see hundreds of thousands of trees broken down under the burdens imposed upon them.

OREGON VS. CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

Domiciled here, with my heart and hopes all in Oregon, waging daily warfare with the detractors of our fair state, it is a relief to unburden my soul to a letter. I have fallen amongst unbelievers. They taunt me, "Yours is the webfoot state." I answer: "That is so; nevertheless, the biggest feet we see in our country are those we import from California." "But," they query, "how about climate?" "Climate," say I, "what is climate? So many days of sunshine, so many of rain, so many of frost and snow, and so many nights and mornings of death-dealing fogs. Climate! Look at your last week's official death record: three times as many from pulmonary diseases as from any other cause. Climate! Can a man live on climate; can he pay four prices for land because he has a climate which chills him to the marrow before breakfast, roasts him before dinner, blows his garments to tatters and fills him full of dust before dinner, and gives him pneumonia and nobody knows how many more diseases besides if he goes out afterward? Climate! You must come to Oregon for climate; you must walk the streets of our city in the little city of Portland when the twilight lingers about the mountain tops, hours after the god of day has been smothered in the fogs of San Francisco. You must see the rosy tints lingering on the snow-clad cone of Mount St. Helens, gilding the crest of Mt. Rainier, and warming with sunset glory the everlasting snows of grand and glorious old Mount Hood. You must see the people sitting on their porches and doorsteps night after night the summer through, until the hour of rest arrives; and wonder at the sight of a whole city out of doors, without wraps, while you carefully close your windows and crave a fire. Climate! Bah! give us a rest." More anon, on other subjects from J. FRED. CLARK.

YAMHILL NOTES.

MCMINNVILLE, April 22.

D. J. Olds has taken charge of the Grange store here.

Mrs. Conner and Mrs. Redmond start for the east to-morrow.

Old Father Burns returned to the insane asylum at Salem, last week.

Custer post band have had an offer to go to Portland Memorial day.

M. Rebling of Lafayette is engaged in invoicing the stock of goods belonging to H. Fisher.

The Odd Fellows' celebration held here on Saturday brought together a large number of people, and regardless of the showery weather, it proved an entire success.

The wheat sowing is about done, and we never had a better prospect for a good crop. There is still one danger, however—that the grain may be too rank and will fall down.

McMinnville lodge, I. O. G. T., No. 2-9, elected the following officers at its last meeting: George Bowe, W. C. T.; Mattie Todd, W. V. T.; Ed. Howe, W. S.; Lewis Cooper, W. F. S.; Mrs. E. Harding, W. T.; James Parish, W. M.; J. Soper, C.; J. R. Kearney, W. O. G.

Franklin post No. 15, G. A. R., was organized at Sheridan, April 26, by J. C. Cooper, special mustering officer, with the following officers: H. H. Maloney, P. C.; Charles Lafollet, S. V. C.; E. Tilosen, J. V. C.; C. J. Hussey, Q. M.; Charles B. Sutton, surgeon; D. R. Evans, chaplain; B. W. Baldwin, O. D.; S. L. Hyde, O. G.; James C. Gillett, adjutant; Thomas Blakeley, J. M. S. Several members of Custer post assisted in organizing.

Tillamook County Republican Convention.

Following are the proceedings of the republican convention of Tillamook county, held April 24:

The convention was called to order by W. B. Stillwell. J. C. Dawley was elected chairman pro tem., J. T. Mauseby was elected secretary and H. H. [illegible] speed assistant secretary.

After the appointment of committees on credentials and order of business, the convention adjourned until 1 P. M.

On reassembling, the above named persons were elected permanent officers, and the following nominations and elections were made:

For delegates to the state convention, James Quick and William D. Stillwell were elected.

The following county ticket was nominated:

For county clerk, H. F. Goodspeed; sheriff, A. L. Alderman (by acclamation); commissioners, George A. Mowers and W. N. Vaughn; assessor, W. T. Baxter; treasurer, J. J. McCoy; surveyor, John McPherson; school superintendent, I. T. Mauseby; coroner, Erastus McKinley.

The convention instructed the delegates to consult those elected from Clatsop county as to joint representative, and if that county has nominated such representative to confirm the same.

The convention was entirely harmonious. A vote was taken as to the preferences of the members of the convention for president and James G. Blaine received all but one vote (17)—that one was for Logan.

How to Shorten Life.—The receipt is simple. You have only to take a violent cold and neglect it. Abernethy, the great English surgeon, asked a lady who told him she only had a cough, "What! would you have, the plague?" Beware of "only coughs." The worst cases can, however, be cured by DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM for the LUNGS. In Whooping Cough and Croup it immediately allays irritation, and is sure to prevent a fatal termination of the disease. Sold by druggists.

TO-MORROW NIGHT'S BALL.—Every preparation has been made for the Knights Templar ball to-morrow night and it will be the greatest social event in the history of the state. The main floor of the Mechanics' pavilion has been enclosed and beautifully draped with American flags and insignia of the order. So carefully has the work been done that ladies need not have the least fear of taking cold from drafts. Heavy white canvas, covering the entire floor, will be laid to-morrow, and the dressing room will be newly carpeted, so that there will be no more danger of soiling the finest fabric than there would be in any private parlor. Two attendants have been provided for the ladies' dressing room and two also for the gentlemen. In case of rain an awning will be erected over the sidewalk in front of the arc entrance. Refreshments will be served in the department used at last year's fair for the grange exhibit and will be under charge of the ladies of the relief society, who have engaged a sufficient corps of waiters. To prevent the crowding usually attendant upon affairs of this kind, an usher will be stationed at the door of the refreshment room and will see that only so many as can be accommodated at the tables will be admitted at one time. It should be added that refreshments will be served free. Music will be furnished by a band of twenty-one musicians, picked from the Twenty-first Infantry band and from this city, under the leadership of Mr. G. Decker. They will be stationed on the new stand at the east end of the hall. The grand march will begin promptly at 9:30 and will be led by Governor and Mrs. Moody, accompanied by an escort from the Knights. For weeks past the leading modistes of Portland have been engaged on dresses to be worn on the occasion, and San Francisco and New York modistes have been drawn on by those who could afford the expense. Gentlemen will be in full dress. With the brilliant assemblage, the pure white floor, the handsome and elaborate wall decorations and tasteful canopy, the ball room scene may be looked forward to as without a parallel on the northwest coast.

PREPARING TO CELEBRATE.—Great preparations are being made for the celebration of Memorial day at Vancouver this year, and it is probable that large numbers of Portland people will seek the green grass and shady groves at that place on that day. General Morrow, who was invited to deliver the address, has accepted. Vancouver lodge, Knights of Pythias, will participate, and have sent invitations to all lodges of that order in this city to join with them.

REFRESHMENTS FOR THE BALL.—This morning at 11 o'clock an expressman will call upon the ladies of the relief society to collect the refreshments prepared for to-morrow night's ball. Those who have promised are requested to have their contributions ready by that hour, so that the man will not be kept waiting.

OVERLAND PASSENGERS.—The following persons passed Heron's yesterday to arrive here at 1 P. M. to-day: E. V. Raerm, H. A. Dyler, W. R. Abercrombie and J. R. Stevens.

BRIEF MENTION.

Those who enjoy roller skating will be pleased to learn that the Pavilion skating rink will be open Saturday evening next.

Lord Estes with a force of men is engaged in clearing moss from roofs in the north end of the city—a wise precaution on the part of property owners.

The attention of the brethren of the Masonic fraternity is called to the notice of the funeral of J. W. Grant in to-day's OREGONIAN. It is desired that as many shall attend as possible to pay their last respects to a worthy brother departed.

The damages caused by the collision off the Columbia river between the ship Summer R. Meade and the steamer Wellington, about a month ago, will be adjusted by arbitration, and W. J. Dutton and Milton Andros have gone to Portland to consider the matter.—Astorian.

Monday evening the county jail was somewhat disturbed by the sudden illness of J. W. Murray, the condemned murderer. A physician was called, when it was found that Murray had become nauseated by the incessant chewing of tobacco, which he begs of every one who comes to see him.

A Chinaman, wheeling a handsome baby buggy in which was a plump, contented looking young Mongolian, and a woman painted by his wife, who carried a parasol and wore silk net gloves, attracted considerable attention as they passed down Stark street yesterday, it being the first procession of the kind ever seen here.

PERSONAL.

Dr. A. L. Fulton, of Astoria, is in the city.

W. Wright, cashier of the First National bank of Union, is in the city.

James Aiken returned from Pittsburg a few days ago, much improved in health.

Dr. S. A. Brown returned yesterday from Seattle and reports his sister convalescing.

Mr. H. B. Thielsen has been appointed engineer of the O. R. & N. Company, vice Mr. H. Thielsen, resigned.

The east side train arrived three hours behind time last evening. The delay was caused by a cave in the rock mountain cut of Roseburg, rendering a transfer necessary at that place.

Major Lucien Eaton, editor of the American Law Review, is in the city, accompanied by his wife. They have been traveling some time for the benefit of Major Eaton's health and will probably leave here by the next steamer for home.

Robert Caples, who has been at the Coeur d'Alene mines for the past seven months, is in the city. He says that claims along Dream gulch are yielding some gold and the prospects of the mines are becoming more flattering. He has an interest in a claim there and expects to return shortly.

Colonel Wm. J. Martin, of Douglas county, a pioneer of 1843, arrived here last evening and is stopping at the house of his daughter, Mrs. Slocum, No. 308 Fourth street. Colonel Martin has not visited Portland since 1855, and is much astonished at the growth the city has made in the past twenty-nine years.

AMUSEMENTS.

BEFORE THE CONVENTION.

Hotels Crowded with Republican Delegates from all Parts of the State.

This morning at 10 o'clock the state republican convention will meet at Masonic hall, corner Third and Alder streets. There will be a large attendance, every county in the state having sent delegations, and few proxies appearing from the Willamette valley. Most of the eastern Oregon delegates arrived at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Those from the east side of the Willamette valley came in three hours late, owing to a delay to the through train, and it was nearly 8 o'clock before they had finished supper and were ready to discuss matters with delegations from other parts of the state. The St. Charles hotel after that hour was made headquarters, and the office, reading and billiard rooms were packed with delegates, candidates, and friends of candidates who will not be members of the convention. At the Holton, Esmond and Quimby, the offices presented animated scenes.

There never was a republican convention in this state of whose transactions so little could be prognosticated as the convention to be held to-day. Of the six candidates for the congressional nomination, and the five mentioned for supreme judge, not one is presented as the candidate of a factional or sectional interest in the party. Every one's candidacy is a personal one and the feeling all around is: let the best man win. For supreme judge the following gentlemen will be presented: Hon. W. Lair Hill of The Dalles, Judge L. Flinn, of Albany, Judge Kelsey of Corvallis, J. W. Whalley of Multnomah, and Judge W. R. Willis, of Roseburg; the latter only in the event of Hermann not receiving the congressional nomination. Each of the candidates for congressional honor will have a respectable vote on the first ballot, and likely on the second, and then a "break" is expected to come in which one of the six will receive the nomination; and every candidate expects to be the man to whom all the others' strength will come.

For president of the convention Hon. Henry Failing of this city, and Edward L. Eastham of Clackamas county, have been mentioned.

For presidential electors Hon. D. P. Thompson, of this city, Judge Pratt of Polk, J. C. Leasure of Umatilla and Morgan Baker of Union are prominently spoken of.

Names of candidates to the national convention are legion, and probably twenty will be presented.

DISTRICT NOMINATIONS.

None of the delegates have held caucuses to select candidates for district offices, yet informal discussion leads to the following information:

In the first district Judge L. R. Webster of Jacksonville will have no opposition. Probably no nomination will be made for district attorney.

In the third district, candidates for attorney are Charles E. Wolverton of Albany, W. G. Piper of Salem, G. A. Johns of Dallas and J. E. Magers of Yamhill. There is no judge to elect.

In the fourth district, the state renominate Judge Smith for judge and A. H. Tanner for attorney.

In the fifth district, candidates for judge are W. D. Hare of Washington county and Frank J. Taylor of Astoria. For district attorney, the present incumbent, T. A. McBride, is the only name so far mentioned.

In the sixth district, R. Eakin of Union is spoken of as judge and Charles Parrish of Canyon City as district attorney.

THE EAST SIDE.

REPUBLICAN MEETING.

The republican club of East Portland precinct met at Hall & Stott's hall Monday night; Dr. H. C. Coley in the chair, and Ed Jones, of the Democratic Era, acting as secretary. It was intended by the "ring sters" to ratify the nominations at this meeting, but when the nature of the meeting was observed, a preponderance of the "kicker" element being present, the thing was not attempted, and consequently the proceedings did run "about like meetin'," according to Charley Bartel's idea of a political meeting. For several minutes a death-like silence pervaded the meeting, no one appearing willing to take the initiative until a "kicker" was called upon to speak. The "kickers" thus getting the floor, held it for the remainder of the evening, and made things lively and interesting for the opposing faction. Speeches denunciatory of ring rule and the ticket put up were made by Jasper Burnett, J. W. Ford, Caleb Gray, delegate from Linn to the state convention, and others; E. G. Wheeler, precinct delegate from East Portland, did not favor the ticket as a whole, while Frank Payne wanted to know what the meeting was for, but received no satisfactory. Dr. Coley being called away, T. J. Mattock was elected temporary president, which completed the capture of the meeting by the "kickers." E. G. Wheeler moved that a committee of three be appointed to secure speakers to address the club during the campaign, the chair appointed, in addition to the mover, two of the most pronounced "kickers"—viz: H. E. Hunsaker and J. W. Ford. The prospects for a lively campaign in East Portland are evidently good, judging from present indications. The meeting adjourned to meet at the same place next Monday evening.

SCHOOL MEETING.

The directors of school district No. 2 met Monday evening, and, in addition to transacting routine business, directed the advertising for bids for $10,000 bonds, to be issued by the district for the purpose of buying property and erecting a school house in the northern part of the district, said bonds to run from five to ten years, at the option of the district.

PROPOSED EXCURSION.

A party of gentlemen who had organized for a private excursion over the road of the Oregon and California Company have had their plans and pleasant anticipations frustrated by the demands of the railroad company. The intention was to charter a Pullman sleeper and go through to Ashland, returning in about five days. The company, however, require $50 for the use of the locomotive in addition to $40 for the car. They did not object to the price of the car, but did most decidedly to the motive power. They did not want to purchase a locomotive, as they had no place to put it. They will probably go fishing instead, using a means of conveyance not quite so expensive—probably the City View Park railroad or the narrow gauge to the Cascade mountains.

NOTES.

East Portland now receives $400 a quarter for liquor licenses, or $1200 per annum.

The surveying party of the projected East Portland and Cascade Mountains railroad left Willsburg yesterday, crossing the Oregon and California road at that point. About six miles of the proposed route from this end has been surveyed.

Miss Alice Revenue, daughter of F. Revenue of the Sandy postoffice, was married Sunday to a gentleman named Grant.

One of John Exon's teams, attached to a furniture wagon, became unruly yesterday morning while standing in front of his office, on the corner of Fifth and J streets, and started down J street at a furious rate. Will Exon had hold of the lines, and held on like a Trojan. After running on the sidewalk and demolishing a lamp post at the corner of Fourth and J, he finally brought them under control, with the assistance of cit zens, the outfit sustaining no material injury.

The steam ferry boat will run all night on the occasion of the Knights Templar ball Thursday evening.

Mr. John Sommerville returned Monday from a visit to Prineville, where he has large stock interests. He was accompanied by his brother of Umatilla, who is a delegate to the republican state convention.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY COMMENCEMENT.

SALEM, Oregon, April 28.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

The commencement programme of Willamette university has been changed a little since the publication of it in your columns last week. On Wednesday, June 11, at 11 o'clock, Hon. Richard Williams of Portland will deliver an address in behalf of the students who attended the university prior to 1860. This address will be responded to by Rev. F. S. Hoyt of Cincinnati, Ohio, who was the first president of the school. These addresses, as also the literary programme of the alumni, will occur in the grove, on the spot where the old Oregon Institute once stood. After the 11 o'clock exercises there will be a basket dinner in the grove, and at 2 o'clock the alumni exercises will take place. This latter exercise has always occurred in the evening, but by request of the old students, the alumni have agreed to join them in their general reunion and basket dinner this year.

All former students, and especial those previous to 1860, who were under the tutorage of President Hoyt, are earnestly requested to be present. Further information may be had by addressing Mr. George Williams of Salem, who is secretary of the committee of arrangements.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 30, 1884.

THE RECORD OF CRIME.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS OF THE JELLERSON MURDER.

Two Brave Girls Repulse a Black Brute—Desperate Fight with Burglars—A Sheriff Murdered—Etc.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 29.—The State Register's Audubon special says: "The murderers of old man Jellerson last Saturday have been captured. They are John A. Smyth and Joel J. Wilson, his sons-in-law, and Cicero Jellerson, the son of the murdered man. All three are in jail at Audubon. At 10 o'clock yesterday morning they were brought up for examination, and Wilson and Smyth waived the same and were remanded until Wednesday night. Cicero became conscience-stricken, and asked to make a statement under oath. He then proceeded to make a full confession regarding the murder, and told how he and the other two men who are under arrest left home on horseback, went to his father's house, tied the horses, broke into the house, took the old man from bed, tore off his shirt, put a rope around his neck, dragged him on his back over the ground to the woods to a tree, and there hanged him. Wilson lifted up the body while the others pulled on the rope. They then strapped the end of the rope around the body, and mounted their horses. They were arrested at their homes. The people are thoroughly aroused, and justice will be meted out. No technicalities of the law will go down with the citizens. Everything is quiet, but it cannot be told when more news will be forthcoming.

WHAT PROMPTED THE DEED.

Everything about the place shows that Cicero has told the exact truth. There can be no mistake about the guilt of the parties in custody. Justice Rodgers held Cicero to await the action of the grand jury, without bail. Smythe and Wilson have their examination Wednesday, at 1 P. M. Cicero became conscience stricken, and divulged the secrets of the murder, as all who knew him expected he would. He says he would rather the whole truth be known and suffer the consequences, than attempt to lie out, and he has told it.

It is now stated on good authority that J. J. Wilson bears a good name and character in Carroll county. It seems that his marriage with Lucy Jellerson was brought about through the influence of John A. Smythe. They were married February 18, 1882. Cicero's statement is that immediately after the marriage Wilson suspicioned that she had not always been virtuous, and he so accused her, when she frankly admitted that she had repeatedly had sexual intercourse with her father, through compulsion, and was once in trouble by him. This enraged Wilson, and he said he would either leave her or kill the old man. She wanted him to do neither. She consulted John Smythe, and the tragedy of Friday night is the result of the consultation.

Many believe that Smythe was the real party who got the girl or girls in trouble, and caused them to charge it to the old man. That seems to be the prevailing opinion of their neighbors, but of course it is all conjecture. It is rumored to-day that the prisoners' friends in Carroll county will raise a mob and come down and liberate them. This caused excitement, and has served to increase the vigilance of Sheriff Herbert, who has his prisoners beyond iron doors. The people have implicit confidence in him, and will stand by him and assist him in the discharge of his duties. He has and will keep the jail strongly guarded.

COLORED OUTRAGER FOILED.

New York, April 29.—Jennie and Mary Graff, aged 19 and 16, live alone in a neat cottage in Rossville. Last night Thomas Wilson, a negro who worked in the neighborhood, forced open the lower window and crept to the room where the sisters were sleeping. His presence was not known until he rudely grasped Jennie by the throat. The younger sister was paralyzed with fear, but the elder, a stout, healthy girl, threw off the negro's hand, and, with her clenched fist struck him in the face, knocking him to the floor. He sprang up and tried to renew the attack, but by a rapid second blow in the face, while with the other hand Miss Graff scratched his face, tearing away strips of skin and flesh, he was repulsed. As soon as the younger sister recovered from her fright she screamed. The man dashed out the lights and attacked Jennie the third time. She resisted vigorously and both girls screamed continuously. Finally he started to run away, and Jennie gave him another blow, which caused him to fall headlong to the ground. He struck against the sharp edge of an ash pan, severing his windpipe. Miss Graff, fearing a second attack, ran to Mrs. Platt. Wilson fled, but was traced by blood marks to the dwelling of Mr Decker, for whom he worked. He was found in the cellar so prostrated by loss of blood that he was unable to speak. The doctor sewed up the wound and Wilson, after being fully identified by Miss Graff, was conveyed to the county jail.

TERRIBLE FIGHT WITH BURGLARS.

Charleston, W. Va., April 29.—Last night three unknown persons entered the residence of Jack Woods, a farmer of this county, with the purpose of robbery. Mr. Woods made an effort to drive the robbers out, but was shot and seriously wounded. His son, Albert Woods, heard the shooting, ran into the room and was shot dead by the robbers. Miss Mary Woods, a daughter, ran in with a pistol and shot at the robbers, who ran off. It is supposed that one of the robbers was shot by Miss Woods, as blood was seen inside the room. The robbers are supposed to be the same who shot and robbed Sheriff Adkins in Boon county two nights before. Much excitement prevails. A posse is after the robbers, who, if caught, will be lynched.

A VERY CLOSE CALL.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 29.—Two men named Richards and Smith were yesterday arrested near Boone, who are suspected of having murdered Amos Rockets last Friday morning. They were taken to Decatur and lodged in the calaboose, there being no jail at that place. Advices from Decatur this morning say that a mob took the prisoners from the calaboose about 11 o'clock for the purpose of lynching them. The prisoners begged so piteously that they weakened, and returned them to the authorities unharmed. The prisoners will be brought to this city and lodged in jail for surety.

A SHERIFF MURDERED.

Charleston, W. Va., April 29.—News is just received here of the killing of Sheriff Adkins of Boone county, who was waylaid and murdered, and the body horribly mutilated. There is little doubt but that the deed was committed by an organized band of outlaws known as the "James gang." Adkins had been zealous in bringing offenders to justice. An armed posse is scouring the country in pursuit of the assassins.

A DASTARDLY DEED.

Utica, N. Y., April 29.—[Special.]—Some fiend strewed the stair cases from the only exit from Odd Fellows' hall with petroleum and matches last night. The fire fortunately was discovered and extinguished. Over 200 members, with their wives and children, were present in the fourth story. The affair was not reported to the assemblage. No arrests have been made.

VERDICT OF GUILTY.

Grayson, Ky., April 29.—In the trial of William Neal, for the murder of Emma Carico, the jury retired this afternoon, and in a short time brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree, with the punishment of death. The judge will pronounce sentence to-morrow. Neal is the last of three men implicated in the crime of outrage and murder of three children at Ashland, Ky.

AN ENRAGED UMPIRE.

Philadelphia, April 29.—Umpire Wm. McLean, becoming enraged at the hoots and jeers of the spectators, because of his decisions in the Athletic-Philadelphia game, hurled a bat at the crowd, hitting one man. The police and players with difficulty saved him from being mobbed, and he was placed under bonds to keep the peace.

A GOVERNOR UNDER INDICTMENT.

St. Paul, April 29.—Under an indictment charging him with asking and receiving bribes as a United States officer Governor Ordway to-day gave bail in the United States court in the sum of $10,000 for his appearance at the next term of court. The indictment refers to an alleged bribery in the organization of Faulk county.

AN OLD GERMAN WOMAN MURDERED.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 29.—A German woman, name unknown, who is supposed to be no less than 80 years of age, was found murdered on the roadside near the village of West Falls. John Randall and Burt Manchester are the suspected persons, who are being sought for by the indignant villagers.

FRANK JAMES ARRIVED.

Kansas City, April 29.—Journal's Boonville special: Frank James arrived to-day from Alabama, in charge of Cheers. He was admitted to bail in the sum of $6000. He will be tried in the circuit court on the second Monday of July. He is charged with the Otterville train robbery.

SUICIDE.

New York, April 29.—Antonio Moreno, a Cuban commission merchant, committed suicide to-day.

THE STAGE.

AMERICAN STARS ABROAD.

New York, April 29.—[Special.]—Cable specials say Lawrence Barrett scored his failure in "Richelieu" last night. The audience had been used to Irving, and the difference was so marked, and the people so favorable to Irving, that the failure is not to be wondered at.

Miss Anderson made a great success in Edinburgh last night as Parthenia in "Ingomar." The house was crowded, and she was repeatedly recalled.

THE GUARANTORS COMPLAIN.

Cincinnati, April 29.—The guarantors of the late dramatic festival are beginning to complain and make objection to paying the heavy assessment that is certain to be made. The principal point made is that the guarantee was given under a promise by the solicitor that Irving would be one of the leading actors.

WHAT MAPLESON SAYS.

New York, April 29.—Mapleson informed the directors of the Academy of Music to-night that he would not take the academy for next year unless the directors advanced $30,000 and expended $40,000 on the building.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

Tuesday, April 29.

The condition of trade is quiet at this time, being affected to some extent by the near approach of a new month. Clearer weather ruled yesterday and to-day, with the promise of a season of warmth. The eastern section is now enjoying mild weather, which is of benefit to wool growers.

Overland receipts include 150 [illegible] cs candles, 5 tubs butter, 1 cs spice, 1 sk coffee, 25 cs canned goods, 3 cs cigarettes, 228 pkgs tobacco.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past twenty-four hours: 1285 ctls wheat, 1936 bbls flour, 930 ctls oats, [illegible] sks potatoes, 5890 lbs hides, 123 cs eggs, 20 kgs butter, 189 bls hay, 100 bbls lime. Also, 13 702 ctls wheat, 100 bbls flour, 5885 lbs wool, 2260 lbs hides, 504 skt flax seed from the eastern section.

A private New Zealand circular of March 1st says that in February but one small cargo of wheat was sent to the United Kingdom, against about twenty cargoes for the same month of last year. This small business is due to the extreme lateness of harvest and to low selling markets. With the coming in of March there were no inquiries for cargoes. Freights were supposed to have reached bottom, 35s being considered to be as low as owners would go. There was not wanting some slight signs of a reaction, and owners were inclined to hold off for better rates. During February mixed weather ruled, and harvesting was extending into March, when a week of open weather would see crops gathered. The wheat trade was quite backward, few [illegible] being willing sellers at parity values and operators rather afraid to go above them. As to tonnage, there was an ample supply at Lyttleton and plenty at other colonial ports.

FREIGHTS—A large wooden ship secured 32s 6d from San Francisco, which would indicate an improved market. With us the day presents nothing of new interest.

WHEAT—All markets to-day show a less spirited feeling, which is not cheering, although far from depressing. After such a substantial advance as has recently been had it is not to be wondered at. An advance gained rapidly is seldom lasting. Many now agree that the grain market cannot but show steady improvement in the next few months. For this argument they furnish varied reasons, the greatest being lower stocks abroad, the small amounts held by the American farmer and the small quantity to be drawn by European consumers from other countries. At present Chicago speculators are industriously engaged in figuring up small supplies of American, and they claim that we have little more than is needed at home. A bull story of this sort may have the effect of exciting operators and bringing values abroad as well as at home, but the story is hardly to be credited, although the Chicago operator can doubtless furnish ample figures in support of his claim. The local market excites very little interest. Throughout the valley there is small buying at a price equal to or slightly exceeding $1 47½ here. In the eastern section buyers enter and retire from the market to-day, so that the buying is too spasmodic for a quotation to be given. Holders of Walla Walla here are advancing their pretensions and no sales are reported.

OATS—Sales on spot are again small and there are not wanting increased signs of an accumulation. Values quoted 47½@50 cents for feed.

POTATOES—Market depressed and presents little that is not of a retail character. Values at San Francisco are off under increased arrivals.

ONIONS—In a jobbing way 1½@2 cents is had, but for shipment there are no buyers.

EGGS—Arrivals show considerable increase and the undertone is weaker. Asking prices to-day are 22½@25 cents.

WOOL—To-day's receipts go to San Francisco. None yet in for local account.

Sherman, Hall & Co., Chicago, have sent out their annual spring circular to wool growers. It reviews last year's trade and comments sharply upon the course of the market and furnishes figures on quotations, stocks and imports for 1883. For the year 81,306,745 lbs were imported into the United States against 71,187,451 lbs in 1882, 51,630,757 lbs in 1881, 107,541,336 lbs in 1880 and 65,905,018 lbs in 1879. Since 1879 New York has led Boston in the aggregate of importations. In 1883 the estimated wool product of the United States was 320,450,000 lbs against 300 million in 1882, and for several years the production has shown steady increase. Stocks of wool in the principal eastern markets January 1, 1884, were 43,157,500 lbs domestic and 9 772 000 foreign against 36,774,750 domestic and 6,730,520 foreign on January 1, 1883.

TAKE ALL THE

Kidney and Liver MEDICINES,

BLOOD PURIFIERS,

RHEUMATIC REMEDIES,

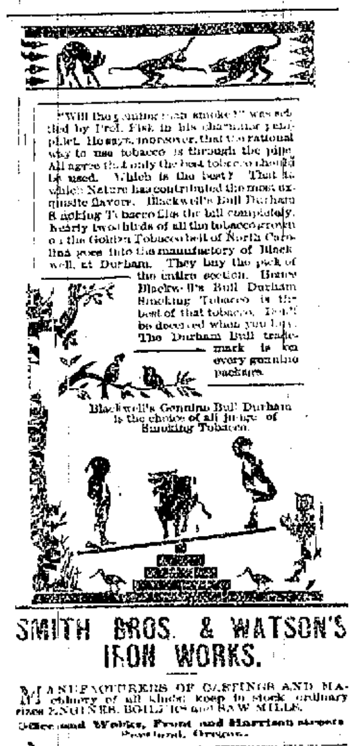
DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION CURES,

AGUE, FEVER AND BILIOUS SPECIFICS,

Brain and Nerve FORCE REVIVERS,

Great Health RESTORERS,

IN SHORT, TAKE ALL THE BEST qualities of all these, and the best qualities of all the best Medicines of the World, and you will find that HOP BITTERS have the best curative qualities and powers of all concentrated in them, and that they will cure when any or all of these, singly or combined, fail. A thorough trial will give positive proof of this.



"Will they continue to smoke?" was settled by Prof. Fisk in his charming pamphlet. He says, moreover, that the rational way to use tobacco is through the pipe. All agree that only the best tobacco should be used. Which is the best? That in which Nature has contributed the most exquisite flavor. Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco fills the bill completely. Nearly two-thirds of all the tobacco grown on the Golden Tobacco belt of North Carolina goes into the manufactory of Blackwell, at Durham. They buy the pick of the entire section. Hence Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is the best of that tobacco. Don't be deceived when you buy. The Durham Bull trade-mark is on every genuine package.

Blackwell's Genuine Bull Durham is the choice of all judges of Smoking Tobacco.
